REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

With respect to claim 24, the prior art does not disclose a liquid receptacle as claimed comprising a one piece insulated outer shell including an insulated void and a phase change material disposed with a chamber between the inner vessel and the outer shell.

With respect to claim 38, the prior art does not disclose a liquid receptacle as claimed comprising a one piece insulated outer shell, a phase change material disposed within a chamber between the inner vessel and the outer shell, and the rim of the inner vessel being in sealing engagement with a recess in the inner surface of the outer shell.

With respect to claim 44, the prior art does not disclose a liquid receptacle as claimed wherein the rim of the inner vessel includes a bulbous lip and is in sealing engagement with an arced recess in the inner surface of the outer shell.

With respect to claim 58, the prior art does not disclose a liquid receptacle as claimed comprising an insulated outer shell, a phase change material disposed within a chamber between the inner vessel and the outer shell, and the outer layer of the outer shell forming at least part of the outer surface of the liquid receptacle.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

2. The terminal disclaimer filed on 7 March 2005 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of patent 6,634,417 has been reviewed and is accepted. The terminal disclaimer has been recorded.
